THE GAZETTE.

SATURDAY, MAY 15.

It is thought that Morrison's tariff bill will not be discussed this session of congress. Of course it won't. The free trade democrats are afraid to meet the issue.

The man who wants Senator Edmund's seat is a millionaire. That is one of many reasons why he should not have it. The senate of the United States needs brains, integrity, and experience, more than it needs a millionaire.

If all the noble Knights of Labor were in full sympathy with their general master workman, there would be no striking, no boycotting, no drinking workmen, and no humiliating defeat in making unreasonable demands.

Mr. David C. Fulton, of St. Croix, has been nominated for the marshalship of the western district of this state. "Dave" is a good democrat, and therefore he got the office. He is an "offensive partner," but of the kind the administration wants.

The man who threw the bomb in the Haymarket riots in Chicago, has been captured. It might be best to go through the formality of a trial, but he should be hanged without unnecessary delay. Carter Harrison may object to this, but it should be done.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA.

THE LOVELESS OF LOS ANGELES—BIG STORIES ABOUT FRUIT—SANTA BARBARA—SOME JANESVILLE PERSONALS—THE TRAVERS OF THE SOUTHERN PACIFIC ROAD—A LONG LETTER WHICH IS RACT AND INTERESTING.

To the Editor.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., May 5th, 1886.

To the average eastern tourist there is a never-ending succession of charms and wonders on the western coast of our country. The mountains are never out of view, in the valleys are great fields of wheat and barley; while palms, orange trees and flowers grow in super-abundant profusion on every hand. Notwithstanding all the allurements and enchantments of the climate and vegetation and scenery of California, there are drawbacks and disadvantages which offset some, at least, of the attractions. It is

A COLD SEASON.

The sun has been concealed most of the time for some months; there has been a dampness and chilliness in the atmosphere which the oldest inhabitant declares has never been known before, and the dry season, which is just setting in, will strip the face of nature for the next five months and cover all outward things with dust as with a garment. Very few firs are to be found in public places, and as there has been general frigidity during the spring months, even adventurers from Wisconsin have longed to return to their homes that the normal temperature of their physical systems might be restored.

But this shore is surely exempt from some of those afflictions which cause disaster and apprehension in the east. Thunder and lightning are here unknown; blizzards and cyclones do not spread desolation abroad; sudden and severe storms are very unusual, and frosts come with exceeding rarity and never with serious effects. The warmth of February is often as oppressive as that of August; roses can be plucked every week in the year; strawberries can be had every week day and twice on Sunday, and there is always plenty of dust to serve as a condiment. There is no certainty but the profusion of the beautiful and palatable things of nature is so great that it would degenerate into a monotony and a satiety which would prove distressing to an inhabitant of a colder climate.

In California one can never get out of sight of the mountains. Railroads are built over, through, and among them; while they are always visible to the traveler who journeys along the coast in ships' It is difficult to conceive of

than that by vessel from San Francisco southward. On such an excursion the tourist always stops at Santa Barbara, a place which was old before Juarez had an existence. To persons for whom the early history of our country has an interest, there is a pleasing sensation in examining the landmarks of its civilization. Something more than a century ago the Franciscan Fathers of the Catholic church in Mexico began to extend their missions up the coast; beginning at San Diego they numbered twenty-three, and reached to a point above San Francisco. The mission at Santa Barbara will be one hundred years old next December, and it is well-preserved. The Franciscan Fathers were among the tribes of Indians, most of whom were converted to the christian faith; and the curious visitor who looks himself to that ancient place of worship on Easter Sunday, was not alone entertained by the sermon and the ceremonies, but by the novel appearance of the worshippers who were generally of Spanish or Indian descent. These missions were the starting-point and the center of civilization on the western coast; and the zeal, earnestness and sacrifices of the early fathers are known only to those who have studied the history of those enterprises. Hence, Santa Barbara has which surprises the visitor who supposes that he is in a new country. The place is said to be the largest in the United States without a railroad, the nearest station being eighty-two miles away. The city contains about 6,000 people, and nearly all the business is done on a single street, which runs straight up from the wharf for a mile and a half. Low adobe buildings with tile roofs and the dark features of the descendants of the early inhabitants, are constant reminders of a nearly forgotten era.

AN ANCIENT AND WEATHER-WORN ATTRACTION.

The situation and the surroundings of the city are a miracle of loveliness. The valley wherein it is set faces to the south and slopes gently down to the sea. Hills and mountains bound it on the other side, except where openings lead to large and rich valleys beyond. The city is a popular resort, and it has been filled with health and pleasure seekers during the winter. Tourists make it a point to visit the Cooper and Hollister ranches, a dozen miles away, each containing thousands of acres, and in the highest state of cultivation. Oranges, walnuts, limes, lemons and olives are grown by the score of acres, and on the former place hundreds of gallons of olive oil are annually manufactured. It is difficult to avoid mentioning a couple of delightful hours spent in the nursery of Mr. Joseph Sexton. On his place are raised 300 kinds of roses and 1,500 pampas plume plants. Besides the trees curiously grown in the country, there are to be seen Australian boxy trees, Australian oaks, Japanese magnolias, camphor and saffras trees; flowers and shrubs from every tropical country, and everything else to be found in a well-regulated nursery,—including eleven children.

Among the residents of Santa Barbara are Mr. Henry C. Ford and wife, formerly of Chicago. Mr. Ford is an artist, and at the time of the big fire, was president of the Academy of Design of that city. He came to Santa Barbara eleven years ago, on account of ill-health, and has warmly prided himself adopted home for its wonderful qualities. Mr. Ford devoted much labor and study in making faithful sketches of the missions before referred to, of which he has etchings made which he sells for $100 per set. He is likewise a botanist, and he owns a small ranch twelve miles from the city, where he has a fine collection of trees, plants and flowers from every quarter of the known world.

SINCE AS AN INDICATION to us what will grow and flourish in this climate some of the contents of his garden will be enumerated: apricots, loquats, guavas, Japanese persimmons, oranges, oranges, lemons, limes, sweet limes, shaddock, Japanese quince, pomeloes, bananas, olives, nectarines, figs, English walnuts, almonds, peaches and pistachios. Of ornamental trees he has many species each of acacia, palms, eucalyptus, India rubber, flame trees, silver trees, alocas and yuccas, besides sources whose names are not sufficiently anglicized to enable the average correspondent to record them. In addition he has twenty-five kinds of cacti, an incomparable array of tropical flowers and all the floral and arboreal productions of the temperate zone. About four miles out in a most charming valley lives Col. Staford who in early times was editor of the Racine Advocate and subsequently engaged in similar business in Washington. Not far from him resides Capt. Anderson who was once master and chief owner of the steamship "Mary Powell" — a cold season.

—Regular meeting of the common council on Monday evening.

—The Salvation Army workers continue to draw immense crowds at Cannon's hall, and the interest in the meetings appear to be on the increase.

—Mr. D. C. Ward and a force of men with a pile driver, are putting down clusters of piling above the dam from which they will swing their pontoons while at work repairing the dam.

—E. J. Owen, of Footville, sold yesterday his dark seal brown geldings to go to Milwaukee, for a gentleman's driving team, for the sum of $500. They were one of the finest and best matched pair that come to our city.

—Street Commissioner Morgan now has a force of men at work replacing the planking at the Monterey bridge. The has been in bad condition for a long time and it is possible that some of the joints will need renewing as badly as the planks.

—In Justice Prichard's court to-day the case of the Bower City Machine Co. against H. S. Romeray dragged along on. There is considerable testimony being taken, a number of practical machinists being examined upon the quality of the work.

—Shuner's restaurant on Main street has been in the hands of the painters for a few days past and it now comes out as neat and bright as could be desired. The walls have been repapered, everything has been cleaned up and with the increased facilities Mr. Skinner can well meet the demands of his trade.

—In the June issue of the Southern Divorce, Dr. Felix L. Oswald will conclude the interesting series of articles on "Our Lost Hunting Grounds," with a paper on the Rocky Mountain Region. Dr. Oswald is preparing a series of articles on Southern Summer Resorts to appear in the Southern Divorce.

—The Storm at Rockford.

The Rockford Register man must have been thoroughly frightened at Wednesday night's storm. The following is his description:

—The sky grow blacker and blacker for just about an hour yesterday afternoon. At half past five it was the blackest. What! The storm has come; did you ever hear such a big raindrop? Whack, splash, crack, zipp, whizz, bang, rattle, tattle, clatter, plinkety, plunk, holy crookets what sort of shot and shell that is being fired from the ramparts of heaven and bombarding the earth?

—It's hail, not rain, but hail, but great interplay what did you see it? Now all you have to do is to get out of the house, lay on the floor, and get out of the way.

—Professor Brooks, of Red House Observatory, this morning observed his two recently-discovered comets, and thus reports them: Number one is very much brighter and will grow in brilliancy until the middle of June. Number two is becoming fainter, but is still a fine telescope object. Both comets are visible in the morning in the northeastern sky, one a few degrees south, and the other east of Cassiopeia.

—SPECIAL FOR THIS EVENING—6 inch silk silk block plaid sach ribbons in cream, cardinal, blue and pink, never sold less than 75 cents per yard, price, to-night 40 cents per yard. Ladies' summer vests, long sleeves, silk bound and stitched, at 20 cents, for to-night only; also silk grandmama veilings, oil shades, at 15 cents per yard and "sowing silk" veilings at 20 cents per yard.

NEW YORK SAYING STORE.

—About one o'clock yesterday morning, says a dispatch to the Milwaukee Sentinel, four masked men entered the residence of Father Lavin, the Catholic priest at Baraboo and presenting revolver, demanded what money and valuables he had in the house. Being prepared for resistance, he handed over $55, all that he had, and his gold watch, worth $175. Not contented with this they proceeded to ransack his room and that of his housekeeper, securing a few more valuables and then left. They were all Irishmen. During the night the safe of Ward McAree, a produce dealer, and the one at J. L. Stewart's lumber yard, were blown open, but nothing of value secured at either place. This is the second and raid of burglars within the last few days.

—They must have queer laws over in town. The following is taken from a special dispatch to the Chicago Times:

—The Salvation Army has had a foothold on Marshalltown for a year. The members have been protected heretofore in their building and in their street parades at considerable expense of police services. Disturbances on the streets have been so numerous that Major Ames excused from the leaders an agreement that they would parades only each week and notify the police in each case. Some time since they broke the agreement and began parading nightly. Yesterday they were ordered by Major Ames to abstain from parades on penalty of arrest, but they came out last night as usual and were placed in jail. At the trial this afternoon the mayor offered to let them off on condition that they would have no more parades, but said they "would obey God and not man," whereupon Mayor Ames observed that they would in future obey the law, and fined them $25 and costs each. In default they went to jail for two days.

—The Cost of the Trial.

—Quarter Master General Rogers was appointed paymaster general in connection with his other duties, at Milwaukee last week, and he has now made his final return. All the bills in connection with the service of the militia at Milwaukee have been paid with the exception of that for transportation. The expense, besides transportation, which will amount to about six hundred dollars, was $1,014.54. The transportation was for the First regiment and one company of the second.

—These figures do not, of course, include the damage done to property by the mob. The state is liable for this, but how much it will amount to cannot be told.

—The Weather.

—At seven o'clock this morning the thermometer indicated 53 degrees above zero. Cloudy with northwest wind. At one o'clock p. m. the register was 44 degrees above zero. Partly cloudy with northwest wind. For the corresponding hours one year ago the register was 53 and 80 degrees above zero.

—Last evening in the early twilight he and his young wife were sitting in the bay-window of their Glen street home, watching the huge bank of ominous looking clouds that was rapidly moving from the west to the east by the high wind, and which was now and then illuminated by the vivid flame of lightning that burst forth from the dense cloud. They were silently watching and wondering at the rapidly changing position of the cloud-bank when the scene was changed. Along came a "herd" of second ward urchins, bound for the "prairie," to have fun their. Reaching a point in front of the aforesaid bay-window, one of the juveniles charged to step onto the end of a low board in the sidewalk, up, went the other end and in time to catch the sore toe of a companion. With toe in one hand and the loose board in the other, the boy made a desperate attempt to break the board by a blow at the front gate. At this point incidents followed one another in rapid succession. The young man of the house suddenly appeared in the front yard with a look of "I'll-break-you-confounded-deeds—if-I-catch-you" upon his countenance; noticing which the boy all took to flight. The young man of the house undertook to save time and distance by striking the fence, in doing which he struck one foot against the end of a picket. When he picked himself up out of the muddy gutter he noticed that the "herd" of urchins had suddenly disappeared, only one little fellow could be seen peeping around a corner, watching for developments. The little fellow only watched a moment, when he discovered that it was absolutely necessary for his personal safety that he should immediately change his location, and that if he succeeded in maintaining a safe distance he must "get." Down for the valley he went, only after him out of the herd. Suddenly the other boys appeared from their "blinds" to watch the result of the chase, and to cheer their best foot companion. Neighbors flocked to their front gates and wondered what was the cause of the excitement and race between boy and man. The race was soon concluded by the capture of the boy, who proved an "alibi" by a dozen or more companions who suddenly made their appearance from another quarter and he was let go. The y. m. of the 'l' slowly walked back to his home where he met his wife—for a moment both were silent—but when she lovingly requested him to change his garments that she might send them to a renovating establishment, his good nature was lost for a moment, but he proposed, after taking a warm bath, that he would hunt up Marshal Hogan and "lay" for the boys. He came down town this morning in some what better humor, and now is in favor of organizing a special police force to scatter the boys who make a practice of raising "Hail Columbia" every night in the neighborhood of the second ward school house.
